PREAMBLE

Parade College will “respect . . . the personhood of each member of the College community by embracing diversity which celebrates individual differences and promotes tolerance through our Christian behaviour.” (Mission Statement 2009)

Discrimination and harassment are unlawful under the following:
- Racial Discrimination Act 1975
- Sex Discrimination Act 1984
- Disability Discrimination Act 1992
- Workplace Relations Act 1996

Discrimination and harassment on the basis of any of the attributes listed below are unlawful
- age,
- gender identity
- lawful sexual activity,
- physical features,
- industrial activity,
- carer status,
- disability,
- marital status,
- parental status, pregnancy, breast feeding
- political belief or activity, race,
- religious belief or activity, employment activity (new)
- sex, sexual orientation
- personal association with a person who is identified with reference to any of the above attributes

Flexible Working Arrangements
Parade is committed to removing obstacles to employment of parents, people with disabilities and other diverse individuals and will be as flexible as reasonably possible to allow this.
Application for individual flexible working arrangements should be made in writing to the Principal.
The Principal will not refuse any request for flexible working arrangements where the request is related to disability, family responsibilities or other protected attributes (see below) without having first discussed the matter with the applicant and the Human Resource Manager.
PRINCIPLES

Discrimination Free School/College
At Parade College we value the diversity of our school community and respect the differences between employees and students, recognising that each person has individual talents and skills to bring to their work. At Parade College we believe that all employees and students are entitled to work in an environment in which they can enjoy their work and their relationships with their colleagues, free from unwanted discrimination and harassment of any kind.

What is harassment?
Harassment is any behaviour which is unwelcome and is based on one of the legislatively prescribed attributes listed above. It will usually be repeated behaviour, but can also consist of a single act.

Harassment has the effect of offending, humiliating or intimidating the person at whom it is directed. It makes the work environment unpleasant and sometimes even hostile. If a person is being harassed their ability to do their work is affected. They often become stressed and suffer health problems as a result.

Harassment can often be the result of behaviour which is not intended to offend or harm, such as jokes or unwanted attention. The fact that harassment is not intended does not mean that it is not unlawful. The differences between people should be acknowledged and respected - never ridiculed.

Harassment often involves an abuse of power, for example, a Learning Area Leader may harass a person over whom they have authority. Abuse of power can also happen when certain groups are in a minority in the workplace and are therefore in a vulnerable position, for example, people from non-English speaking backgrounds.

It does not include lawful behaviour which is mutually acceptable to the parties.

Types of harassment
There are many types of harassment. These can range from direct forms, such as abuse, threats, name calling and sexual advances; to less direct forms, such as where a hostile work environment is created, but no direct attacks are made on an individual.

Examples of verbal harassment:
sexual comments, advances or propositions;
racist comments or jokes;
spreading rumours;
belittling someone's work or contribution in a meeting;
repeated unwelcome invitations;
obscene telephone calls, unsolicited letters, faxes, E-mail.

Examples of non-verbal harassment:
putting offensive material on notice boards, computer screen savers, E-mail, etc;
displaying sexist or racist cartoons or literature;
demoting, failing to promote, or transferring someone because they refuse requests for sexual favours;
mimicking someone with a disability;
practical jokes which are unwelcome;
ignoring someone, or being cold or distant with them;

Examples of physical harassment:
unwelcome physical contact, such as kissing, hugging, pinching, patting, touching, brushing up against a person; hitting, pushing, shoving, throwing objects at a person.

What is discrimination?
Discrimination is making unlawful distinctions between individuals and groups on the basis of any of the prescribed attributes listed above. Direct discrimination occurs when a person is denied a benefit or an opportunity on the grounds of any of the prescribed attributes. Indirect discrimination occurs when a policy, rule or practice has a discriminatory effect against a group of people (for example a height requirement may discriminate against women).

POLICY

It is against Parade College policy and a breach of equal opportunity laws to harass or discriminate against an employee or student because of any of the prescribed characteristics. Harassment/discrimination will also occur if it is based on a perception that a person has one of those attributes, even if they don't, in fact, have that attribute.

GUIDELINES

School Policy opposes Discrimination/Harassment

Discrimination/harassment will not be tolerated at Parade College. If, after an investigation by an appropriate person, it is found that discrimination or harassment has taken place, an appropriate course of action will be taken. In serious cases, dismissal may be the result. Serious cases of harassment involving assault may also constitute a crime.

Workplace discrimination/harassment is also against Parade College’s Occupational Health and Safety Policy, as it creates an unsafe work environment.

What to do if you are harassed or suffer discrimination

If you feel that you are being harassed or suffering discrimination, tell the person to stop, that the behaviour is unacceptable and that it must not happen again. It is important to say these things to the harasser as the person might interpret silence as tacit consent. If, however, you are too frightened or embarrassed to say anything, this does not mean that your complaint will not be taken seriously. If the behaviour does not stop, or even if it does stop but you wish to report it, tell the Human Resources Manager. Alternatively, you may wish to speak to one of the designated College Complaints Officers, who will tell you what your options are. If you so wish, you may make a formal complaint under Parade College’s Complaints Handling Procedure. Copies of the Procedure are available from the College Office.

It is a good idea to make a written note of any discrimination or harassment, including details of dates, times, witnesses, what happened, and what you said/felt. Be frank and open with those who are investigating the complaint about what happened. This will enable appropriate action to be taken.

You can also get advice from your union, or a government agency such as the Equal Opportunity Commission Victoria.

What Parade College will do

It is Parade College’s legal responsibility to ensure that discrimination and harassment do not happen in the workplace. If they do occur, complaints will be taken seriously by the College. The complaint will be investigated in a sympathetic, fair and confidential manner. Action will be taken to make sure that the offending behaviour stops. Appropriate warnings or disciplinary action will be taken where harassment/discrimination is found to have occurred.

You will not be victimised or treated unfairly for making a complaint.

Responsibilities of College Leadership Team

It is part of the role of the members of the Leadership Team to ensure that harassment does not occur in the workplace. The members of the College Leadership Team must ensure that they do not engage in behaviour that is discriminatory or harassing themselves - either of other employees, students or visitors.

When the members of the Leadership Team observe discrimination or harassment happening in the workplace, they should take steps to stop it and warn the person involved of the consequences if the offending behaviour continues.

The members of the Leadership Team are also responsible for ensuring that all staff and students are aware that discrimination and harassment will not be allowed in the school and that complaints will be dealt with in accordance with the terms of Parade College’s Complaints Handling Procedure.

If you tell a member of the Leadership Team about harassment, he/she is obliged to make sure that confidentiality is maintained.

If a member of the Leadership Team feels that he/she is not the appropriate person to be dealing with a complaint, he/she will refer the matter to the Principal who will be able to assist you.

Responsibilities of employees

Employees are legally obliged to ensure that they do not discriminate against or harass other employees, students or visitors at Parade College. Employees must also ensure that they do not encourage others to do so.

If you become aware that someone you work with is being harassed or subjected to discrimination, you can assist them in a number of ways. Tell them that you are willing to act as a witness if they decide to make a complaint. Back them up or support them in saying "no" to the alleged offender. However, it is not your responsibility to say anything to the alleged offender. Remember that if you spread rumours about anyone, you may be subject to a defamation action.

Where to go for more information

For more information about workplace discrimination and harassment, you can approach the following:
- the Equal Opportunity Officer, members of the Justice and Equity Committee, College Complaints Officers (listed at the end of this policy);
- your union; the Equal Opportunity Commission Victoria 380 Lonsdale Street Melbourne 3000 Telephone (03) 9281 7111, or from the country 1800 134 142
- In the Melbourne Archdiocese – the coordinating Chairperson, Pastoral Care Unit CEO Melbourne
- In each of the country dioceses - the Educational Consultant at the relevant Catholic Education Office.

IMPLEMENTATION

COMPLAINTS HANDLING PROCEDURE OF PARADE COLLEGE

1. Purpose of this Procedure
At Parade College we are committed to providing a pleasant work environment for all employees and students. We acknowledge, however, that employees and students can sometimes feel aggrieved about something that is happening at the College which appears to be discriminatory or to constitute harassment. An employee or student can have a complaint about any decision, behaviour, act or omission (whether by the Principal, members of the Leadership Team or other staff/students) that he/she feels is discriminatory or constitutes harassment.

The purpose of this document is to provide a procedure by which employees/students can have such complaints addressed.

If you feel that you are being harassed or discriminated against, this complaints handling procedure is available to you so your concerns can be addressed.

2. Key elements of our complaints handling procedure
The following are the key elements of our complaints handling procedure:

Impartiality. If you make a complaint, it will be investigated in a fair and impartial manner. No judgments or assumptions will be made, and no action will be taken until the investigation is complete. If a complaint is made against you, your rights will be protected and you will be given an opportunity to tell your side of the story.

Confidentiality. You can feel secure that if you do make a complaint under this policy, it will remain confidential. The only people who will have access to information at this stage about the complaint will be the person making the complaint and the person investigating.

No victimisation. You can also be rest assured that if you make a complaint you will not suffer in any way as a consequence. The College authorities will ensure that a person who makes a complaint is not victimised in any way.

Timelines. Each complaint will be finalised within as short a period as possible. All complaints should be finalised within one month.

What to do if you have a complaint

Approach the person involved.
In many situations, the most appropriate thing to do first is to tell the person who is the cause of the complaint how you feel. If the complaint is about their behaviour, tell them that it is offensive/hurtful/not acceptable. If it is about a work decision, tell them why you think it is discriminatory or harassment. Telling the person will give them a chance to stop or change what they are doing.

Go to the Complaints Officer
If you don't feel as if you can approach the person directly, then go and explain the problem to your Complaints Officer. These people have been trained to be the first point of contact for people with complaints. The names of the complaints contact officers are listed at the end of this policy. The Complaints Officer will advise you about what your options are and what will happen if you decide to make a formal complaint. Nothing will be done in relation to the complaint without your agreeing.

What happens next?
Once you have made the complaint to the Complaints Officer, this person will then consider whether there are any reasons why he or she should not proceed to deal with the complaint. For example, the person you complained about may be a personal friend. If there is such a reason which indicates it is inappropriate for the Complaints Officer to deal with your complaint, it will, with your consent, be referred to another appropriate person.

The Complaints Officer will then interview you. During this interview a number of things will be explained to you, such as what will happen if the complaint is found to be supported by the evidence, or if it is found to be not supported by the evidence. You will also be told where you can go for assistance if you are not happy with the way the College is dealing with the complaint. The Complaints Officer will then take a written record of the complaint.

The Complaints Officer will then talk to the person about whom the complaint is made to hear that side of the story. Any witnesses will also be interviewed. These interviews will be conducted separately and impartially. The importance of confidentiality will be stressed to all parties and they will be warned of the consequences if there is a breach of confidentiality (e.g. possible defamation action, initiation of a complaint for harassment).

The Complaints Officer will then tell you what the other people said and discuss what should be done to sort out the problem. You should tell the Complaints Officer what action you would like taken, e.g. a written apology from the person, a written warning, etc.

Review
If the complaint remains unresolved it will be reviewed by the Principal who will make a final decision as to the outcome of the complaint.

Possible outcomes
If the complaint is proved, the following are possible outcomes:
  a written apology;
  an official warning;
  counselling;
  disciplinary action; or dismissal.

If the complaint is unproved (not enough evidence), possible outcomes are:
  relevant training for all staff; and/or monitoring of behaviour of employees.

If the complaint is proved not to have happened at all, the following are possible outcomes:
  counselling for the person who made the complaint;
  a written apology;
  an official warning;
  disciplinary action; or
  dismissal.

The Complaints Officer will make sure that whatever outcome is decided upon actually happens. He/she will also assess the effectiveness of the outcome from time to time.

Appeals
• In the Melbourne Archdiocese – the Assistant Director, Catholic Education Office Melbourne
• In each of the country dioceses the Educational Consultant at the relevant Catholic Education Office
If you feel that the complaints procedure has not been followed properly, or that the outcome is unacceptable to you, you may appeal to the Principal.

The Principal (or other designated person) will look at the way the complaint was handled and examine the outcome. If he/she believes it was handled properly and that the outcome was appropriate he/she will take no further action. If he/she thinks that the complaint was not handled properly, or that the outcome was inappropriate, he/she will organise for the complaint to be looked at again.

The appeal will be dealt with by someone other than the person who first handled the complaint.

Go to an external agency
If you are not happy with the way your complaint has been dealt with by the College you may wish to go to an external agency for further advice and assistance. You may take your complaint to the external agency at any stage in the procedure if you are unhappy with progress in dealing with your complaint. See Parade College’s Policy for names and addresses of external agencies.

Complaints Contact Officers and Complaints Officers
The following people are contact officers whom you can speak to about your complaint:

- Cate Livingstone - Assistant Principal (Identity and Personnel)
- Adam Briant - Teacher
- Pauline Malkoun - Teacher
