Coming up roses

Parade College students are busy planting a vegetable and flower garden at Villa Maria Aged Care Facility in Bundoora as part of the school’s Community Action Projects program. The year 10 students have been making weekly visits to Villa Maria to help start a garden where the elderly residents can cultivate their own vegetables. The Community Action Project involved students coming up with project ideas, such as taking seniors to the movies and lawn bowls, and fund-raising to turn the ideas into reality.
